I was really surprised when I read the email from the girl Sandra, a reader of our magazine. In the letter she describes her problem - Sandra is a new student in the school. She has a problem with making friends with her classmates. Sandra wants me to give her some advice how to make friends at school. I feel sorry to Sandra and I'm going to help her, because I know that if you don't have school friends, studying becomes boring.

Firstly, Sandra should try to find common interests with the classmates. It could be reading or dancing.

Secondly, try to spend more free time with your classmates. For example, you can go for a walk with them after school. I wish you to find some friends in the new school. Good luck!
