✓ Hello, today I want to talk about the problem that some parents teach their children at home rather than sending them to school. I think ~~it's~~ ^{it's} a bad thing for ^{the} children, so I'll try to explain why.

First of all, teachers in schools are high qualified workers, so a child ^{or} will learn more information, than if a parent ~~will teach~~ ^{teaches} him. In my opinion, school workers have more experience, than most of the parents. ~~Secondly~~ ^{Also}, teachers have many methods to teach the children, so they can easily ^{lex} show new information.

Secondly, ^{or} a school child ^{can} make new friends and talk ~~with~~ ^{to} them, ~~he don't~~ ^{he doesn't} have this possibility if the parents teach him at home. The child ^{or} has a risk to become ^{or} sociopath. That's one of the ~~worst things~~ ^{biggest problems} of teaching children at home. Also a child won't get life experience, so he won't get a good job in the future.

Thirdly, if a child doesn't have friends, he has a risk of being at home very long time. Because nobody ~~won't~~ ^{can't} call him for a walk. It means that child ^{or} can become fat and silent person and nobody ~~won't~~ ^{can't} have a deal with him. But if a child goes to school, he has very active life. Because he has many friends, ~~teachers~~ ^{teachers} love him and he goes for a walk every day. Also teachers can tell funny stories that happened with them in the past, so a child would see more ~~the~~ ^{experience}, than if parents ~~would~~ ^{would} teach him.

20 + 10 + 15 + 10 = 55 / 55
